

Contemplating, Practicing, and Celebrating Balance, Spring, Regeneration...

*Bringing collective attention to our cosmic, earthly, and climatic moment—
a reflection on cycles, seasons, weathering, & Deep Time*

*... Ask the questions that have no answers.
Invest in the millennium. Plant sequoias.
Say that your main crop is the forest
that you did not plant,
that you will not live to harvest.*

*Say that the leaves are harvested
when they have rotted into the mold.
Call that profit. Prophecy such returns.
Put your faith in the two inches of humus
that will build under the trees
every thousand years. ...*

Practice resurrection.

*Excerpt from Manifesto: The Mad Farmer Liberation Front,
by Wendell Berry*

with ecological artist, educator, activist, and writer

Oliver Kellhammer

the Climate Stories Collaborative and SD3531: Practicum in Resilience & Transformation

Vernal Equinox - March 20, 2020

2:30-4:30 pm

The Great Hall (room 205), Living and Learning Center
305 Bodenheimer Drive

All are welcome!

Oliver Kellhammer is an ecological artist, educator, activist and writer. Through his botanical interventions and public art projects, he seeks to demonstrate nature's surprising ability to recover from damage. His work facilitates the processes of environmental regeneration by engaging the botanical and socio-political underpinnings of the landscape. It continues to evolve and has taken various forms such as small-scale urban eco-forestry, inner city community agriculture and the restoration of eroded railway ravines. He is based in New York's Alphabet City and rural British Columbia. <http://oliverk.org/>